What to take to your test

- your UK driving licence
  (If you have an old-style paper licence, you must bring it along with a valid passport)
- a car - most people use their driving instructor's, but you can use your own if it meets the rules

Your test can be cancelled and you'll have to pay again if you don't bring the right documents and don't follow all the rules in the guide.

The rules can be found here: https://www.gov.uk/driving-test/using-your-own-car

Changing your test appointment

You can change your test appointment up to 2 times.

A change is when you change the date, time or test centre.

If you need to make more changes than this, you must cancel your test and book a new one.

Each time you change your car driving test, you will be able to either:

- stay at the same test centre
- move to one of the 3 nearest test centres at that time
- move to the test centre you first booked at

You will get a full refund if you cancel your test on or before your last date to cancel. If you cancel after this, you will not get your money back.
